THE BARE BULL AND BABE

from the Institute for Recurrent Progress

The Bare Bull and Babe

The Bare Bull and Babe are a powerful symbol of collective and recurrent progress.

Note the stern ferocity of the Bull in its stasis, the bare and luxurious form of the Babe in repose; a valued member of the Institute cannot help but to place an offering upon its pedestal each time they pass:

When in the presence of the Bare Bull and Babe (Barebnb™ for short), guests at Apartment 2 should consider the degree of their devotion to growth and self-reliance:

"Am I where I thought I would not be?"

"Is there any end to the expansion of my ability to take membership at the Institute into my innermost personhood?"

"Do I honor myself through appreciation and the tithing that is required to demonstrate said appreciation?"

While answers to these questions may not be apparent to those in the nascent stages of their preliminary membership operations, no one within the Institute for Recurrent Progress would claim contrariwise.

Barebnb™ has been placed in Apartment 2 as a gift to us all. Gift giving is a selfless act and is, at the Institute, considered to be the highest form of altruism.

Do not dishonor the selfless gift of Barebnb™: honor yourself instead by making a selfless gift of your own.

By placing American currency upon the platform that supports the Bull's mighty haunches, you will find yourself proportionally closer to the future you deserve*.

*For optimally deserved futures, guests will want to make numerous tithes across the duration of their stay in Apartment 2:

*"I see the people working,
And see it working for them."*
